Board Approves Canopies At Two Schools

Principals offer 'state of schools' reports at January meeting

By Wes Feese
Editor

The Adair County School Board's January meeting was both lengthy and eventful, as the Board approved construction of canopies outside Adair County High School and Adair County Elementary, and also heard the annual "State of the Schools" addresses from each principal last Thursday.

The canopies – according to Superintendent Alan Reed – have been a need at ACHS and ACES since the schools were built.

"This season has really underscored the need for these [structures]," Reed said to the Board, noting that some students waiting for buses, as well as parents picking up their children, have had to weather cold, rain, and snow this year because of the lack of shelter.

The canopy at ACES will be basic and flat, and a slightly more elaborate design with an angled roof was proposed for ACHS.

Gabe Jones, an architect with Ross, Sinclair & Associates, explained that both canopies will be pre-engineered and factory made, making installation as easy and cheap as possible. Construction is planned to begin over summer break.

"I think we need to do it," Board member Mike Harris said, moving to accept the amendment to the BG-1 to allow the canopies to be built. Greg Willis seconded Harris' motion, and the measure passed unanimously, 4-0.

After the motion passed, Jones revealed that the building costs would total approx. $370,000. Superintendent Reed explained that the money would not come out of the General Fund, but Luke Rich, eight-year-old son of Alma and Bryan Rich, was excited to build Olaf from the snow that fell early Saturday morning. Olaf was named after the snowman from the recently released Disney movie "Frozen."

Sisters Gabby and Piper Kemp braved the cold to build Charlie at their home in Knifley. Gabby and Piper are the daughters of Nick and Whitney Kemp.

Thursday Fire Takes Home

By Wes Feese
Editor

A house fire in Melson Ridge last Thursday resulted in the complete loss of the mobile home and left the residing family scrambling to find a new place to stay.

The Adair County Fire Dept. arrived on scene at around 4 p.m. Thursday, but despite the best efforts of 15 firemen, there was no chance at saving the home. Last week's frigid temperatures made battling the blaze a difficult affair.

"It wasn't completely engulfed when we got there but it was already burning through the roof," Adair County Fire Chief Terry Flatt says. "It spread very quickly, and the cold and freezing temperatures makes everything more difficult because you can't let the water freeze."

The house's residents – Marty Helm, Melissa McGill, and their children – were home at the time, but weren't aware of the fire until it was too late.

"Our neighbor drove by and told us the house was on fire," McGill says. "They saw it before we did, because it was in the roof."

Firefighters stayed on scene working to contain the inferno for three hours, but the damage was done.

"We did about all we could do with it," Flatt says. "We were able to get a few items out for the family."

Flatt's assessment of the cause is in

Lawson Nearly Perfect, Wins Hoops Contest

After a few down weeks of scoring in the Adair Progress Basketball Contest, this week's edition saw submission scores soar. More than a dozen entrants predicted 16 games correctly, yet none found their way onto the podium, as 17, 18 and 19 were the scores required to place this week. Doug Lawson missed just one game, Vanderbilt vs. Texas A&M, for his score of 19 and this week's crown.

Lawson's 19 out of 20 correct predictions were nearly matched by this week's second place finisher, Raymond Atwood, who tallied 18 correct predictions. In third, Corey Rogers submitted a 17-point entry—a score that is typically good enough to win the contest outright. In the end, it was Lawson's call of Michigan over rival Michigan State that gave him the victory.

For his win, Lawson takes home $25 and a Sonic Combo Value Meal. Atwood will receive aBurger King Whopper Value Meal and a six-pack of Ski courtesy of Western Kentucky University and the Coca-Cola Bottling Company for placing second, and Rogers, along with this week's random drawing winner, David Reliford, will be awarded with a Sonic Combo Value Meal.

Adair Native Earns Invite To Diamondbacks Spring Training

By Blake Spires
Asst. Editor

Baseball fields all over America are adorned with kids dreaming of playing professionally someday. For nearly all of them, that dream fades away like dust lingering above home plate. However, Derek Cape, an Adair County native and former ACHS and Lindsey Wilson College standout, is turning that dream into a reality. Cape has signed with the Arizona Diamondbacks and will be attending their Spring Training Feb. 27.

Former Lindsey Wilson and ACHS pitching standout, Derek Cape, earned an invite this week to the Arizona Diamondbacks Spring Training in Phoenix.

"It's been an insane couple of days," Cape said Tuesday, beginning his story. "I was in Phoenix trying out for them this week, and they called me this morning and told me they wanted to offer me a contract."

Cape's dream almost faded like that of so many other aspiring youngsters. In fact, the right hander hadn't thrown in more than a year and a half, following an injury sustained during his impressive senior season at LWC that he thought effectively ended his hopes of a baseball future. That changed around Christmastime this year.

"I had been student teaching, graduated, was offered a job teaching three weeks after that, and had just been teaching and coaching since then," Cape, the North Hardin P.E. teacher and baseball coach explained. "My players were using something called the Velocity-Plus Program, and I figured I might as well give it a try with them."

After a few weeks with the program, which builds strength by having players practice throwing different

Hospital Board Talks Finances

By Blake Spires
Asst. Editor

As would be expected of any entity facing a large deficit, the bulk of Tuesday night's regularly scheduled monthly meeting of the Adair County Hospital District Board of Trustees centered on the current financial status and trends of the hospital. David Hayes, the hospital's CFO, presented the somewhat discouraging news.

"We're down about 39-percent on our business this year," Hayes stated. "Then with the clinics, when you combine them all together, they're down about 21-percent from this time a year ago."

Much of the downturn, particularly for the month of December, which was the most recent month that data was available for, can be attributed to the antiquated roof leaking on Dec. 5. The leak and subsequent damage caused much of the behavioral health unit to be closed for two weeks. That, however, was only the most significant factor in what Hayes reported to be an area-wide trend.

"Honestly, this is pretty typical for many places around here," Hayes added. "I've looked at Taylor County, Breckenridge County and others, and they're all down this month."

From a monetary standpoint, those percentages translate to a more than $4 million decrease in total patient revenue from the same time one year ago. However, through wise spending and

The Weekly WORD

Editorial Commentary Written By
Wes Feese, Editor

We're currently right in the middle of my least favorite time of year: The January/February no-man's-land between Christmas and March Madness.

The weather has been varying degrees of unpleasant for weeks. I, like most of the rest of the county apparently, have been fighting a cold that just doesn't want to go away, and even if I did feel 100-percent, there's not much to do this time of year anyway. With all that said, it should surprise no one that I've spent way too much time watching TV lately, an absurd, embarrassing, tremendous amount of TV. College basketball games that I don't care about, mediocre television shows I've never heard of before, talk shows – I've watched a little of everything.

Even sitting here Tuesday evening typing this column, I've already got my DVR set to record the UK game and Justified, since I have to work tonight. So while I'll welcome spring with open arms, embrace the sunshine and stay outside (and away from the television) when the time comes in a couple of months, the past weeks have provided a new insight into how technology has advanced and changed the way we live over the past decade or so.

When I was a little kid, we had two TVs in our house. One of them was small and old and we kept it upstairs. The "big" TV was around 30 inches and weighed, to the best of my memory, 400 pounds. It sat in the living room, on the strongest entertainment-center shelf ever built. We got about 10 channels –all networks. If the weather was bad, we got one channel: Fox 34 (not to be confused with Fox 41 and Fox 56, which meant a third of our options were the same station). My only other viewing options were a handful of VHS tapes. The picture was grainy but that didn't matter because HDTV wasn't a thing yet. I know people that lived in town had more options, because my friends at school had cable and I was jealous that they got Nickelodeon.

I say all this to preface one simple fact: As recently as the mid-1990s, a lot of folks only had a few basic options for TV, and now the options are almost infinite. There are few aspects of our day-to-day lives that have been impacted by developing technology as much as television.

Do you guys remember having to miss a show or game and taping it on VHS? Anyone more than a few years younger than me doesn't. I've got two separate shows recording at home right now. I didn't have to use a tape, disc, or witchcraft. I set both to record automatically weeks ago and they'll be there ready to watch anytime I want.

If I'm in the mood for something else I can check out the hundred or so channels that come with my basic DirecTV package. If I'm in a particularly picky mood, I can browse Netflix and the hundreds of shows and movies they can stream directly to my light-as-a-feather television in a matter of seconds.

Change usually creeps up on us so slowly that we don't even realize we're adapting and reshaping our lives to suit the latest developments. Our free time, which for most of us is the most valuable time we have, is largely dictated by what technology tells us is the most worthy way to pass the time. We don't even notice it.

I'm not saying it's a bad thing – I'm obviously a fan of this superior TV-watching experience. It does make me curious though about what kind of changes the next 15-20 years have in store, and not only pertaining to TV. I bet the difference is greater than most would predict.

Letters To The Editor

Parting Remarks From W.M. Feese, Jr.

To the voters and taxpayers of Adair County,

It is with a heavy heart and mixed emotions that I express my intentions of retiring at the end of this present term of office that in my case ends in December. For 29 years I will have served the citizens of Adair County as your Property Valuation Administrator.

After much prayer and deliberation my wife Donna and I have decided the time is right for handing over the reins to our son Jeffrey who will serve the county well. He has the necessary experience and know how to continue the same friendly, courteous and professional service that we have strived to provide to the citizens of this great county. He has over 23 years of service in the office of property valuation both locally and in Frankfort having served as the supervisor of the western section of the state for the Department of Revenue which encompasses 40 counties for a number of years as well as serving as PVA in a number of counties when the PVA has retired or a vacancy existed until a PVA could be appointed or elected. He knows property tax inside and out and will be fair and reasonable in his duties here in Adair County.

Due to health concerns both in the family as well as friends, we feel the time is right for our retirement and we look forward to spending what time we have left on this earth with our grand and great-grand children.

Again we sincerely thank and appreciate the many friendships and acquaintances that we have made these past 29 years and look forward to many more as we move on to the next chapter of our lives.

Thank you sincerely,
W. M. Feese, Jr,
Adair County PVA

ACHS Academic Team Wins Ninth Governor's Cup District Title

The ACHS Academic Team brought home the school's ninth consecutive Governor's Cup District Championship on Monday, Jan. 27. The team swept First Place in every category at the event, held at Russell County High School. The Quick Recall team advanced through each round of the tournament with an undefeated run, and the Future Problem Solving team earned all First Place scores in their evaluations.

In addition to the two victories in the team events, several of Adair County's individual competitors advanced to Region with a top five finish. In Social Studies, Brittany Curry (Grade 11) won first, teammate Timothy Watson (Grade 11) finished in second, and Zane Sanders (Grade 10) advanced to Region by earning fifth place in his first even high school event.

Brittany Curry walked away with another First Place finish when she was announced winner of the Mathematics competition as well. Teammates Kyle Castaneda (Grade 12) and Leane Blackwelder (Grade 12) finished third and fifth respectively and will both advance to Region as well.

In Science, Timothy Watson doubled up on advancing to Region by capturing First Place in that event. Kyle Castaneda earned second place to advance in the category alongside Watson.

In Language Arts, Rebecca Montgomery (Grade 10) finished with one of the highest scores in the Region with her First Place finish in the event. Language Arts was another area for first-time competitors for the team as Treyton Grant (Grade 10) won third place. Laura Akin (Grade 11) was awarded First Place in Arts and Humanities for the team in her first year as a competitor with the team.

Jessi Taylor (Grade 11) continued her winning ways in English Composition by getting First Place. She is a returning member to the team that advanced to State Finals last year in the same category. Landon Coomer (Grade 11) finished in second place in the event and Rebekah York (Grade 11) finished in fourth.

Adair County had the most individual winners overall at the District Championships and will be among the most well-represented teams in the Region based on the number of competitors to advance.

The Future Problem Solving team consists of Kyle Castaneda, Sarah McQuaide (Grade 11), Amber Turner (Grade 11), and Jessi Taylor. Three of the four members are returning runners-up at State Finals and defending Regional Champions.

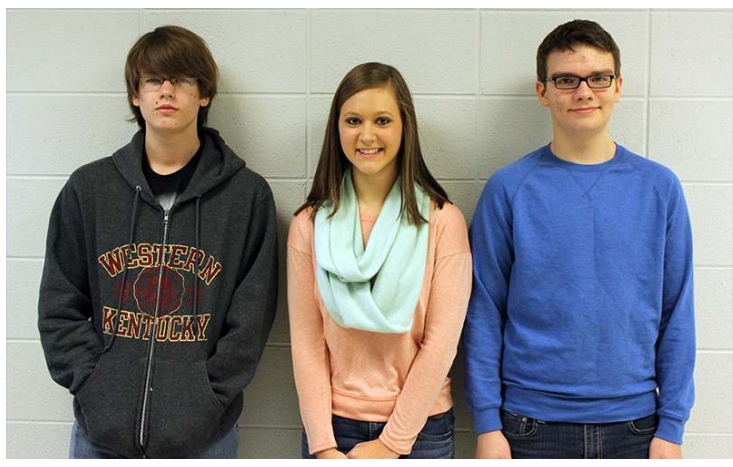

The Quick Recall members are Timothy Watson, Brittany Curry, Rebecca Montgomery, Jessi Taylor, Alan Godsey, Treyton Grant, Zane Sanders, Austin Bradshaw, Courtney Green, and Tyler Moore. The team consists entirely of underclassmen, making their District Championship in Quick Recall a rare accomplishment for such a young team.

ACHS Coach Brett Reliford commented about the team's work this year by stating, "We are thrilled to continue the success of the program this year at District. This team has had a lot of obstacles to overcome that some teams from our program in the past have not had to face. We have worked hard to take care of unexpected twists and turns along the way, and I cannot say enough about the way this team has rallied together to make this season a success. I wish everyone could see what it takes to achieve this level of success because it would bring a smile to people's faces to realize how devoted the kids have been in reaching this goal this season. To do this with many previously inexperienced players and to be undefeated in Quick Recall with a team of all underclassmen is something we are all very proud of. Our Future Problem Solving team and their experience has been a rock for the team as a whole, and our new leaders in test-taking and Quick Recall are following suit."

The Governor's Cup Regional Championships will be held at South Warren High School on February 11 and 15.

from monies that have been earmarked for construction.

A final drawing will be presented for the Board's approval at their February meeting.

After discussion of the canopies was over, the next big item on the agenda was the "State of Schools" reports.

ACHS Principal Troy Young was the first to share, and offered insights into the many changes that have been implemented at the high school.

Young explained that the district's newfound focus on college and career readiness is already paying dividends, as Robin Loy was hired this year as the school's college and career readiness coach. Seventy-seven students have already met the "college and career ready" benchmarks.

"That's a huge jump from where we were last year," Young said.

As for areas that need improvement at the school, Young identified several communication challenges, but also said that steps are already being taken to improve communication, both among teachers and administrators as well as with parents. Teacher Kevin Robertson has taken on a role as ACHS' parent liaison, and Young hopes that the position will help foster stronger communication between parents and educators.

In Young's closing, he offered his opinion on the just-approved canopy at the school.

"That's a long time coming," he said.

Adair County Middle School Principal Alma Rich followed Young, and divided her school's report into four categories: accomplishments, obstacles, future, and goals.

Starting on a positive note, Rich announced that KPREP (the state's standardized tests) scores were up in almost every area, and that there were no gaps this year with students' scores. Rich also said that some eighth graders were taking math, science, and technology classes for high school credit, highlighting the strong academic culture at the middle school.

Rich said that the primary obstacle the school is facing right now is space.

"We have teachers working out of closet spaces and working one on one with students in the hallway," Rich said, adding that one teacher even uses the cafeteria as a classroom.

In conjunction with the space issue, class size has also become a concern. There are as many as 35 students in some middle school classes, and classes that size mean less individual instruction time for each student.

ACES Principal Steve Burton spoke next, offering an optimistic report on the school and its future.

"It's a great time to be a part of ACES right now," Burton said. "Our teachers are working harder now than ever before."

He went on to detail the broad changes that the school undertook at the start of the school year, primarily in incorporating teachers from John Adair, Colonel William Casey, and ACMS into the ACES family.

Burton said that ACES has moved to more personalized styles of teaching, including a revamped schedule for third grade that allows time every day for students to learn from the subjects of their choosing.

"We want you to pursue your interests," Burton said.

Early release Fridays have proved to be beneficial, according to Burton, and his staff has taken the data analysis seriously.

"We're putting faces with those numbers," Burton said.

In his closing, Burton said that ACMS' main goal is continuing to improve.

"We are a proficient school, Burton said. "We're very proud of that fact, but that's not good enough. We want to be distinguished."

Adair County Primary Center Principal Patty Jones was the last to give her report.

"It's been an interesting first semester," Jones said of the newly opened school. "I feel like I've come out from under water since after Christmas. We kind of had to establish a new school from the ground up."

Most of Jones' report focused on building a successful culture at ACPC, including establishing a vision statement, motto, and new policies for the institution. Jones said that the staff is adjusting well to the new configuration, and that technology at the school, including projectors and iPads, continues to be installed and implemented.

Most of Jones' areas of concern were centered on space. Class sizes are too big, traffic and parking have been issues, and intervention capabilities have been reduced due to having more students and a smaller staff.

In other business at Thursday's meeting the Board:

•Unveiled its newly redecorated boardroom. Pictures of students were put up along each wall, and inspirational quotes adorn wall space that isn't used for pictures. Superintendent Reed said that he wanted the new layout to look like a room whose sole purpose is dedicated to students and young people.

•Reappointed Floyd Burton as the Board's chairman, Greg Willis as vice-chairman, and Superintendent Reed as secretary.

•Heard the maintenance report from maintenance director Ricky Bault.

Bault said that tile work in ACES' lobby is finished, although the floors in the ACPC bathrooms still weren't satisfactory.

The new scoreboards for John Burr Memorial Gym were installed, up, and running, and the baseball scoreboard is on campus and will be installed before the season starts.

Bault also noted that the severe cold spell this month only caused one water line to bust, in the high school football locker room.

All Board members except Joe Payne were present for the meeting.

Adair Students Earn All-District Band Honors

By Blake Spires
Asst. Editor

The Adair County Marching Band has a long and storied history of success, capturing countless state and national honors. The students who make up the legendary program, however, do not simply wait around for next season to start after the state championships conclude. This week, 42 Adair County students were named to the 2014 All-District Band.

"Marching band is just one unit of our program," Adair Band Director Tom Case said on Tuesday. "After marching season concludes, students participate in concert band, pep band, jazz band, percussion ensemble and winter guard. We really strive to make all of these groups better at an individual level."

In concert band, students have the option to audition as both an individual and as a representative of the Adair Band program, and may qualify at both the District and State levels. Each student is given audition material designed for their respective instrument, and then prepare and practice on those materials leading up to the audition.

"It's not uncommon for students to practice on their own, or even stay after school for help with either myself or Mr. Holmes," Case explained. "They even came to the band room over Christmas break as well as on a few Saturdays for individual help."

After intense and extensive practice, the auditions are held in a regional or district area, and the individual instrumental performances are judged by a musician who specializes in that particular instrument. This year, more than 225 students from surrounding counties auditioned and the top auditions were selected to the All-District Bands.

Adair County had 23 students selected to the 2014 All-District Junior Band and 19 students chosen for the All-District Senior Band, leaving a remarkable 42 students with All-District honors. The All-District Concert will take place on Feb. 15 in either Somerset or Russell Springs.

"We're very proud of them, and it's a huge payoff for the individual student to earn such an honor," Case said. "It not only makes them better on their instrument, but in turn, a stronger individual band student makes our overall band even better."

line with McGill's statements.

"It could've started with a wood stove or been a flue fire," Flatt says. "We don't know for sure the cause though."

With the family now displaced from their home, McGill says that they've been staying with Helm's mother and are looking for another place to live.

"I'm just in a state of shock right now," McGill says. "We're so thankful for what everyone's already done for us."

Anyone wishing to donate to the family, particularly clothes and furniture, which McGill says are most needed, can do so at Adair County Judge-Executive Ann Melton's office at the Courthouse Annex.

The sizes needed are as follows: For Marty (Pete) Helm--32x32 Pants, Large Shirts, Size 11 Shoes; For Melissa McGill--5/6 Pants, Medium Shirts; Size 8 Shoes; For Riley Helm--18-24 Months Clothes; Size 7 Shoes; Size 4 Diapers; For Bryson Helm--14T Pants, Men's Small Shirts, Size 9 Shoes.

staff reductions, Westlake reduced its total operating expenses by $2.1 million in the same time frame.

Those cuts, plus positive trends in extraordinary income and meaningful use funds, leave the hospital's net lossat just $73,684. These numbers suggest that, with a more consistent patient revenue stream, Westlake could be turning a solid profit.

That solid profit is necessary, given that the hospital's total current assets, $4,552,363 , pale in comparison to the significant total liabilities, $21,805,835 still burdening the entity.

"We had a really slow December," Westlake CEO Neal Gold said. "We're picking back up this month and trying to keep things improving."

In other news at Tuesday night's meeting, the Board of Trustees:

•Appointed members to new positions following Gold's move from Vice-Chairman to CEO. Richard Grant was named the new Vice-Chairman, while Brad Keltner was appointed as Secretary.

•Heard an Administrative Report from CEO Neal Gold, who provided a bit of background and praise for staff additions Joseph Payne, Radiologist; Carolyn Hare, Nurse Practitioner; and Brian Gaskin, Nurse Practitioner.

"This gets a nurse practitioner assigned to a specific clinic," Gold explained. "No more shuffling around.

"We're hoping they'll be able to build practices and develop a base of patients they see on a regular basis. I think not having that has hurt us in the past, and I'm glad to say we're beyond that."

Gold then provided an update on the new roof being put on Westlake, and outlined the new floor being installed as well. Gold says that the roof is currently between 25-percent and one-third finished, and that by the next meeting in late February, he hopes the floor is complete as well.

The CEO then lauded the new ultrasound machine being used by Westlake.

"We probably paid for 20-percent of the cost of the machine in the last two days alone," Gold claimed. "It's been a big success."

Gold also announced that he would be creating the position of marketing director to help improve the hospital's image as well as how it communicates both with its employees and the community. He hopes to fill that position internally to save money.

Gold closed with a statement about upcoming employee training at Westlake in order to continue improving their already-high customer satisfaction ratings. He said that the current 95-percent statistics, which rank in the top one-percent in the country, are still not good enough for a hospital in a small town where one bad incident can travel quickly.

"Everyone understands how important customer service is," Gold said. "We can do a wonderful job, but every time we mess up it pulls us down and undoes a lot of that."

•Approved bad debt write-offs to be turned over to a collection agency.

•Made two new staff appointments and reappointed two staff members, all unanimously approved at the recommendation of Dr. Giles and the staff.

•Entered executive session to discuss proposed or pending litigation against or on behalf of the hospital, in accordance with KRS 61.810(1)(C). No action was taken following the session.

Cattle Prices, Cold Weather, & Cattle Health

Cattle prices have entered 2014 roaring as four weight steers have been greeted with $2 prices at the yards. At the same time, fiercely cold weather has taken its toll on many cattle operations. While we cannot control the weather, the events are worthy of discussion.

Attractive cattle prices can make pulling calves off the cows and sending them straight to market very tempting. However, if you look closely at market reports or have watched cattle sales recently, you will find a wide spread in the value of calves. For example, 5 weight steers had a 16 cent spread last week according to USDA market reports. In other words, an $80 per head difference existed among 5 weights with the most discounts being handed to non-weaned calves. The average discount on 5 weight bull calves were 11 cents, or $55 per head. While cattle prices are very good, don't overlook the simple ways to add value to the calf crop.

There have been multiple reports for farmers who have lost livestock as a result of bitter cold temperatures. As temperatures dive into single digits and wind chills below zero, newborn calves are at the greatest risk. Providing windbreaks, shelter, high quality feed sources, and ample water is important during these times. However, under the best management losses can sometimes be inevitable under these conditions. Most recently have been reports of cattle aborting calves early in pregnancy. It is unknown at this time as to whether or not these incidences were related to stress from recent cold weather. Aborted fetuses can be submitted to the UK Livestock Diagnostic lab for testing. Diagnoses are more likely able to be made when the placenta is submitted along with the fetus.

With cattle prices high, weather cold, and feed prices relatively cheap; producers may be considering creep feeding calves this winter. Creep feeding can increase the weaning weight of calves however feed conversion can be as poor as 10 lbs of feed per 1 lbs of gain. Care also must be taken to avoid over conditioning replacement heifers as fat deposited in udder will negatively impact future milk production. Creep feeding rations should be balanced carefully to minimize the risk of bloat and acidosis. A common strategy is to incorporate salt into the ration at a rate of 3-10% to limit daily intake of the creep ration.

Tribe Splits Boy/Girl Doubleheader at Taylor County

By Wes Feese
Editor

The Adair County Indians and Lady Indians were both in action at Taylor County Tuesday night for 20th District matchups with the Cards and Lady Cards. The ladies jumped out to an early lead in the first contest and never looked back, cruising to an easy win, but the boys were denied victory despite a competitive performance against one of the Fifth Region's top squads.

Lady Indians 48 Taylor County 22

Coach James Turner's Lady Indians used pressure defense in the first game of the night to overcome their own poor shooting performance and force Taylor County into turnovers, running away with a relatively easy win, 48-22.

"I thought we passed the ball really well, but we have to finish the shots," Turner said postgame. "We turned it over too much, but when you have a lead like that it tends to get a little sloppy sometimes."

Adair established a strong inside presence early on in this one, with Alex Keltner putting the games first points on the board with a drive through the lane for two. Sophomore forward Beth Owens went to work on the offensive glass, scoring on a put back and following her own basket with another offensive rebound and dish to Keltner for two more. Senior Emily Peck's elbow jumper stretched the lead even further, to 8-1, before the Lady Cardinals even made a basket, and the first quarter ended with the Tribe leading, 11-3.

The second quarter followed a similar theme, as Owens and Harlee Smock continued to crash the glass for Adair and earn second chance points. Smock reeled off five straight points off passes from Owens, and Owens put back another Adair miss to stretch the lead to 18-5. Kassidi Taylor splashed in a three just moments later, and freshman Katherine Curry finished off a Brooklyn Coomer miss down low to expand the lead to 18. The score was 28-7 by intermission, and the rest of the game was essentially a formality.

The third quarter mirrored the first two for Adair, as the lead continued to grow throughout the period. Brooklyn Coomer facilitated the Lady Indian offense from the forward position, hitting Smock on a cut to the basket for two and then finding Owens on a similar play for another bucket. Later in the quarter, Coomer hit Curry in the lane for two points and her third assist of

Adair County Makes Road Trip to Nelson County

Lady Indians 42
Nelson County 44

The Lady Indians opened the action last Friday night in a girl-boy doubleheader against Nelson County. Adair grabbed a slim lead early, maintaining control of the hotly-contested battle for much of the game, but found themselves unable to muster a bucket in crunch time, falling 44-42.

"Neither team played very well," said Head Coach James Turner following the loss. "We had a great opportunity to pick up a quality win, but just couldn't make a play when we needed it most."

The Lady Indians grabbed an 8-7 lead after the first quarter, an offensive performance that would set the tone for the remainder of the game as both teams struggled to score.

The squads would each break through a bit in the second, however, finding their scoring rhythm at a more respectable clip. Adair tallied 15 points in the quarter, giving them a 23-18 halftime lead.

After three quarters, the contest was knotted at 34, but in the fourth, the Lady Indians could produce just eight points yet again. The cold shooting left them at just 31-percent from the field on the night, and despite not fairing much better, the Lady Cardinals were able to eek out a 44-42 win.

"Our defense was able to keep us in the game, so that's a positive," Coach Turner began. "Despite numerous turnovers and a horrible shooting percentage, we had a chance to win."

Beth Owens was the only Lady Indian to reach double figures in the contest, scoring 11 points on the night, but requiring 16 shot attempts to reach the mark. Junior forward Harlee Smock tallied nine points to go with nine rebounds, lead guard Alex Keltner notched six and senior Emily Peck scored five. Forward Brooklyn Coomer pitched in four points to accompany her team-high 10 rebounds. Sammy Jo Kemp also had four points, and Katherine Curry rounded out the scoring with three of her own.

Indians 49
Nelson County 46

After a tough loss to rival Russell County the night before, the Indians traveled to Nelson County last Friday night for the second game of a girl-boy doubleheader against the Cardinals. After an atrocious start, the Tribe rallied to create what would be a back-and-forth affair, ultimately prevailing, 49-46.

"I was proud of the way our guys fought back after starting so poorly," Coach Mark Fudge said of the comeback. "Even though we didn't play as well as we would have liked, it was good to get the win."

The home team would be the aggressor early, as Nelson County exploded out of the gate

Indians Fall to Rival Russell County

Indians 48
Russell County 71

In the first of two meetings between the longstanding rivals this season, the Indians hosted Russell County last Thursday night at John Burr Memorial Gymnasium. An abysmal shooting night for the Tribe, who shot just 32-percent from the field, including a horrific 1-for-16 effort from beyond the arc, spelled doom for the perimeter heavy scoring attack of the Indians, who fell 71-48.

"I think the biggest difference in this one was the way we shot it from outside compared to how they shot it," Head Coach Mark Fudge said. "We were just one of 16, while they went 10-for-16 from three."

The electric atmosphere as a result of a packed house in support of both teams was at its height early in this one. The Indians stole the ball after Russell County won the tip, and senior guard Matt Fudge sank a pull-up jumper for the game's first score. Russell County would answer, however, rattling off three straight buckets and establishing their inside dominance early. A Russell County three made it 11-2 in favor of the Lakers.

Fudge would tack on three more scores, tallying the first eight points for the Indians before finding fellow senior Ty Bennett for a three that cut the lead to 16-11 with 1:54 to play in the first quarter. Bennett would draw a shooting foul on the next trip, making both, and establishing the incredibly tight-yet-inconsistent whistle that would prevent any sort of rhythm from being established by either team. After one, Russell County held to a 20-13 advantage.

Zach Hutchison went to the line for two, making both for the Indians to open the second quarter. Russell County, however, owned the offensive glass all night long with superior physicality, and former-Indian transfer Colton Back sank a three off an offensive rebound. Two Fudge free throws were followed by another Back three, and a slashing score by Chance Melton was sandwiched by Russell County and-ones. At the half, the Lakers found themselves on top 36-24.

Melton would slash and score again to open the second half and cut the lead to 10, but Russell controlled the quarter, both on the offensive backboard and from the perimeter with Back and another former Indian guard, Kel Stotts, who nailed a pair of threes in the quarter. The Indians would never be closer than 11 points in the third, and with one frame left to play, the Lakers were ahead 51-35.

The free throw shooting contest escalated even further in the fourth, as the first 10 total points of the quarter were scored at the line. A Nick Coffey bucket inside gave Russell the first field goal of the period and pushed the lead to 20, 58-38.

With both teams living at the line and fouls piling up, both coaches went to their reserves with just under three minutes to play. When the final horn sounded, the Lakers had stretched the lead slightly, and the scoreboard read 71-48, Russell County.

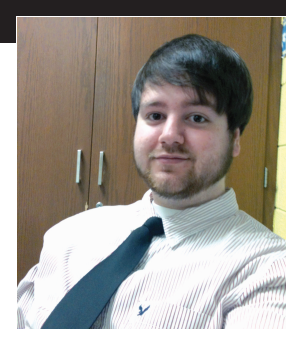

"In addition to the shooting difference, we allowed them to be much more physical than we were," Coach Fudge added. "That was a big key to the game."

The Indians, who shot nearly as many free throws, 34, as field goals, 37, made just 12 shots from the field. Leading the way with four made field goals and six from the charity stripe was Matt Fudge, who scored 14 on the night. Chance Melton added eight points, and Ty Bennett, who made Adair's only three pointer of the night, had eight as well. Jacob Pooler scored six, Zach Hutchison five, Corey Melton, Marshall Shelley and Trevor Willis each had two, and Kyle Burton chipped in one for Adair's 48-point total.

Indian guard Matt Fudge rises above his defender for two of his eight first quarter points last Thursday against Russell County. Fudge had a team-high 14 in the contest.

The Breakdown with Blake Spires

By the time you read this column, we'll all be just a few days away from the Super Bowl. The entire sports scene essentially moves out of the way the week before, so there's very little in the way of noteworthy discussion outside of Super Bowl talk. That's how big "the game" is. In fact, it isn't so much a game anymore. It's a spectacle, an event, even a holiday.

And that's what I want to talk about this week. Whereas other major national holidays come with days off of work and the general understanding that the days before and after should be treated with a certain amount of time to plan, celebrate and rest, the Super Bowl is dropped in the middle of our weekend on a Sunday afternoon. Monday is back to business as usual with nothing more than water cooler talk about the game and Sportscenter highlights.

That leaves many Americans in a tough spot. You can't "celebrate" the Super Bowl a day or two before or after the game itself in the way that some families do with Christmas festivities. The entire point ofthe many parties, get-togethers and events is the game. Even if a huge portion of your guests don't care about or even watch the game, it serves as the background noise for the night of fun.

The biggest problem, however, is that the spectacle takes placeon a Sunday afternoon, which easily floods over into Sunday night. Most often, the Super Bowl ends after 11 p.m. Central Time, which puts a huge chunk of America (the east coast) up and watching football with a house full of friends after midnight. By the time the game ends, and you either make the drive home or clean up after your guests, many folks are looking at another hour or so—all with work early the next day.

I say all of that to ask you a question: how would you feel about moving the Super Bowl to a Saturday? Obviously, the (holi)day itself is called Super Bowl Sunday. That's part of the deal. The NFL plays the majority of their games on Sunday, and that's widely considered the day of the week for professional football. The tradition of the day is etched into our sports fan psyche, and that might be a link that's hard to break.

However, it would definitely fit the mood of the day to move it to Saturday. The entire day is essentially spent either getting the party ready, waiting for the game, watching the game and commercials, or talking about the game we just witnessed. Saturday would allow for folks to do that without the lingering reminder of work the next morning. It would also open up the schedule a bit for folks who find themselves having to hurry home from church in order to prepare for the festivities.

It's also worth noting that we see a similar move with college

ADAIR COUNTY SCHOOLS
Learning For A Lifetime

STAFF SPOTLIGHT

By Shamarie Claiborne

This month our district spotlight shines on a wonderful educator by the name of John Shelley. For those who may not know Mr. Shelley, he is one of the smartest, most hard working, humble, and kind gentlemen you will ever meet. In the summer of 2013 after 22 years in the classroom Mr. Shelley accepted a position at Adair County Board of Education as the Title I Director, Principal of Adair County Youth Development Center, Principal of Spectrum, District Site Base Coordinator, and Energy Coordinator. It makes me tired just typing it all...but to no one's surprise John has exceeded expectations.

Mr. Shelley is originally from Spencer County Kentucky where he graduated high school in 1987. John's hard work and dedication was recognized and rewarded when he received an Academic Scholarship to the University of Kentucky. While studying at UK he received the prestigious Sally Pence Award in Secondary Mathematic Education. John received his bachelors degree in Secondary Math Education at the University of Kentucky in 1992.

After graduating from UK, John started his career teaching pre-algebra and algebra at Scott County Middle School. The district moved him to Scott County High School in 1994 to teach Algebra I, Algebra II, Geometry, and AP Calculus. From 1993 to 1997 John also was the SCHS assistant Boys Basketball Coach and was honored to help coach in two boys state tournaments. As if John was not busy enough during his tenure at SCHS, he completed his Masters in Secondary Math Education from Georgetown College in the spring of 1998.

In the fall of 1998, after receiving his Masters, Mr. Shelley came to Adair County High School to teach math. During the past 16 years in the classroom Mr. Shelley has taught Algebra I, Algebra II, Geometry, transitional math, and AP Calculus. From 1998 until 2001 John was the head Boys Basketball Coach at ACHS and then transitioned to the head Boys Basketball coach for the Adair County Middle School from 2007 to 2010. It should also be noted that Mr. Shelley has worked off and on throughout the years with ACMS and ACHS Baseball and in 2010 Mr. Shelley returned to coaching as full time assistant coach for ACHS baseball and continues in that position still today. Oh yes, I almost forgot during all of Mr. Shelley's free time here in the district he continued to further his education and in 2006 received his Rank 1 from Eastern Kentucky University in Administration. Once again, it makes me tired just typing it!

Now you might ask how did Adair County get lucky enough to snag such a hard working, dedicated educator and coach as John Shelley well John's parents Marla and J.M. Shelley are both graduates of Adair County High School. And after retiring they, too, have returned to Columbia to enjoy their son and his wonderful family.

Which brings us to one of John's favorite subjects: his family. John swells with pride when he starts talking about his son, Marshall Shelley, who is a senior at Adair County High School and plays both basketball and baseball; his stepdaughter, Whitney Maurath, who is a junior at Lindsey Wilson College and is majoring in Human Services and Counseling; or his stepson, Derek Maurath, who works for Southern Kentucky RECC as a lineman. He is quick to tell you what great kids they are and how grateful he is have them in his life. Of course he never leaves out his beautiful wife, Jamie, who has been a dedicated teacher here in the Adair County School District for 24 years herself and is currently teaching science at Adair County Elementary School.

When I asked Mr. Shelley about his new position and the transition from classroom to board room he had this to say: "Adair County and the Adair County School System has been very good to me. The Adair County High School was a great place to work. Both the faculty and student body made it a pleasure to come to work every day. Yet, I am very excited about my new position and all the challenges it brings with it. Title I is a very complex grant and there are a lot of strict guidelines to be followed. I am really lucky to have had a good teacher in Mike Akin to help prepare me for the challenge. Mike knows the program inside and out. You know, I sincerely hope I have had a positive impact on the children here in the county through my coaching, and teaching. But, now with my new role as an administrator, I look forward to working with students, teachers, and colleagues to continually improve our school system and county."

It is plain to see John loves this district and has always given 110 percent to our children. There is no question in my mind John Shelley will now give 110 percent to his new position and I, for one, cannot wait to see all the wonderful changes he helps to create for our students in his role as an administrator in the coming years.

Schools Across The State Have Already Lost Their School Nurses

Additional schools are in great danger of losing their school nurses next year due to changes in Medicaid payment.

•For the 2013-2014 school year, the Department of Public Health recommended changes in local health department satellite school clinic billing which drastically cut revenue.

•For the 2011-2012 school year, health department nurses represented more than 2/3 of the school nurses across the state. Presently, this number is drastically decreasing!

•45 of the 59 (representing all 120 KY counties) Local Health Boards reported having contracts with School Boards for school nurses for the 2011-2012 school year. Presently, this number is drastically decreasing!

•Local school boards contracting with health departments to provide school nurses are the BEST way to ensure a nurse at every school. These partnerships cost the State of Kentucky ZERO DOLLARS* and provide the school systems a discounted price for a very valuable service. (*Local Health Departments pay the State's 30% payment match back to Medicaid)

•As local health departments regrettably discontinue their school contracts, local school boards either have to discontinue school nursing services or provide their own staff. As this happens, fewer nurses are available to children and local tax money is being used for these services. In essence, a large amount of federal Medicaid money that has historically been utilized by local health departments to help offset school nurse costs are being replaced with local tax money.

•Medicaid billings for all local health departments are less than one percent of the Medicaid total budget.

•A school nurse is the only access to any health care for some school children.

Please contact your legislators to support your school health program by insuring health department services (including school services) are covered under the new Managed Care Organization contracts. Hand written letters are best. Emails and phone calls are also sufficient. To find legislators in your area look to the box on this page.

School nurses are vital in providing school health services. The local board of education contracting with the local health department ensures that students receive quality care during their educational experience.

Healthy children learn better!

Thank you for your continued support.

ATTENTION: All Parents, Guardians, Teachers, Staff and Students of Adair County School District

Schools across the state have lost their school nurses and many schools, including Adair County Schools, are in Great Danger of Losing their School Nurses in the next year due to changes in Medicaid's payment methods.

Please contact your legislators to support your school health program and let them know how important it is to every student's education that each school has a School Nurse. If you want to keep Adair County's School Nurses contact your legislators immediately and let them know how important this matter is to you and your school.

The box at right is the contact information for your legislators in Adair County so please take the time to send them a hand written letter or you can email them or call them to let them know how important the school nurse is in your school system. If you have any questions about contacting your legislator please feel free to contact your school nurse.

The more people that contact their legislators, the louder the voice of concern for school nurses in Adair County will be heard and hopefully the actions needed by your legislators will be taken to ensure that Adair County Schools will continue to have school nurses to care for each and every student.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that on January 17, 2014 Kentucky Utilities Company ("KU") filed an application with the Public Service Commission, Frankfort, Kentucky for approval of revisions in its Demand-Side-Management and Energy-Efficiency ("DSM/EE") program portfolio, as shown in KU's Adjustment Clause Demand-Side Management Cost Recovery Mechanism ("DSMCRM") tariff and the resulting changes in its DSMCRM charges. In its application, KU notified the KPSC that the revised DSMCRM tariff sheets are proposed to become effective on and after February 16, 2014; however, because KU anticipates the Commission will suspend the proposed changes in the DSMCRM tariff to conduct an investigation of the proposed changes, KU has asked the Commission to approve the proposed changes in its DSM/EE program portfolio and resulting increases in the charges under the DSMCRM mechanism in its DSMCRM tariff to be effective on January 1, 2015.

The proposed changes to the DSM/EE program portfolio, if approved, will result in an increase in the charges calculated under the DSMCRM mechanism. The increase charges for all affected electric rate classes are as follows:

Residential Service Rate RS, Volunteer Fire Department Service Rate VFD, and Low Emission Vehicle Service Rate LEV
Current Charge per kWh	Proposed Charge per kWh	Difference per kWh	% Change
$ 0.00349	$ 0.00378	+ $ 0.00029	+ 8.3%

General Service Rate GS
Current Charge per kWh	Proposed Charge per kWh	Difference per kWh	% Change
$ 0.00238	$ 0.00222	- $ 0.00016	- 6.7%

All Electric School Rate AES
Current Charge per kWh	Proposed Charge per kWh	Difference per kWh	% Change
$ 0.00088	$ 0.00101	+ $ 0.00013	+ 14.7%

Power Service Rate PS, Time-of-Day Secondary Service Rate TODS, and Time-of-Day Primary Service Rate TODP
Current Charge per kWh	Proposed Charge per kWh	Difference per kWh	% Change
$ 0.00067	$ 0.00069	+ $ 0.00002	+ 3.0%

KU projects that the monthly bill impact of the new DSM/EE programs and program enhancements will be an increase of $0.29 per month for a KU residential electric customer using 1,000 kWh per month.

This tariff filing may be examined at the office of Kentucky Utilities Company, One Quality Street, Lexington, Kentucky, or on Kentucky Utilities Company's website at www.lge-ku.com.

This tariff filing may also be examined at the Commission's offices located at 211 Sower Boulevard, Frankfort, Kentucky, Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., or through the Commission's website at http://psc.ky.gov.

Comments regarding this tariff filing may be submitted to the Public Service Commission through its website or by mail to Public Service Commission, Post Office Box 615, Frankfort, Kentucky 40602.

The proposed changes to the DSM/EE program portfolio and associated increase in the charges calculated under the DSMCRM mechanism contained in this notice are proposed by Kentucky Utilities Company. The Public Service Commission may order changes to KU's proposed DSM/EE program portfolio that may result in charges under the DSMCRM mechanism that differ from the proposed charges contained in this notice.

A person may submit a timely written request for intervention to the Public Service Commission, Post Office Box 615, Frankfort, Kentucky 40602, establishing the grounds for the request including the status and interest of the party. If the Commission does not receive a written request for intervention within thirty (30) days of the initial publication or mailing of the notice, the Commission may take final action on the tariff filing.

the quarter. Adair led 45-12 after three, and only one Taylor County player had managed to score.

Turner cleared his bench early in the fourth, letting his junior varsity players finish out the contest, and Adair sailed to a comfortable finish, 48-22.

"I thought our energy was good," Turner said. "We just have a lot of things we need to improve on."

Beth Owens led Adair with 15 points on the night, and Harlee Smock and Alex Keltner each joined her in double figures with 11 and 10, respectively. Freshman Katherine Curry came off the bench for five, Kassidi Taylor added three, and Emily Peck and Sammi Jo Kemp each scored two points. Brooklyn Coomer failed to score for the Tribe but made an impact both on the boards and with her passing.

The second game of the night was a much more dramatic affair than the opening game, but poor outside shooting and a size disadvantage down low proved too much for the Tribe to overcome.

"It was a tough game," head coach Mark Fudge said following the loss. "I thought we competed real well. We did everything well except shoot the ball."

This one was tight all the way through, as defensive stopper Marshall Shelley gave the Adair offense a boost early on, scoring the Tribe's first three points on a free throw and mid-range jumper. Matt Fudge helped Adair keep pace with a pull up three off the dribble and then drawing a foul on a short jumper just moments later. The 90-percent foul shooter drained both, but Taylor County's superstar sophomore, Quentin Goodin, answered with a quick two of his own. Chance Melton worked for a contested layup at the buzzer to endthe quarter in a tie, 12-12.

Taylor reeled off seven straight points to open the second period, but Adair didn't fold. Melton drove and dished to Shelley for two, and Shelley hit Fudge for a long three just a minute later. Fudge kept the hot hand, driving into the teeth of the Taylor defense and banking in a contested short jumper. With Adair down four with just 10 seconds left in the half, Fudge took a charge on a Taylor County drive to give Adair the ball, and then splashed in another long three off a Shelley assist to cut the margin to one at halftime, 25-24.

Just as they did in the second, Taylor opened the third quarter with a quick 7-0 run before the Tribe could answer. Jake Hixson finally stopped the bleeding by knocking in two free throws after being fouled on a put back attempt, but Taylor kept their foot on the pedal. Chance Melton drove for two to make the score 36-28, but Taylor answered with two quick buckets. Melton continued to be the focal point of the Adair offense for the remainder of the quarter, scoring on passes from Jacob Pooler and Zach Hutchison, but Taylor led after three, 49-38.

The fourth quarter was the best of the night for the Tribe. Adair managed to get to the free throw line early, as Ty Bennett knocked in four free throws in the first two minutes and Matt Fudge hit five of six from the line in the opening minutes.

Bennett knocked in his only three of the night with just two minutes left in the game, cutting the Taylor lead to five. Taylor immediately turned the ball over, and another three-point bomb from Fudge made the score 56-54 with 1:23 left, forcing Taylor to take a timeout.

Goodin game out of the T.O. and gave the ball right back to Adair by walking, and Zach Hutchison's ensuing drive landed him at the free throw line, where he hit one of two. Two Goodin free throws gave Taylor a three-point lead with 38 seconds left.

Hutchison got an open look for a deep three, but his shot rimmed out, and Shelley was fouled on the tip-in attempt. He hit one of two, and the game looked to be over, but Hixson came up with a steal and layup to make it 58-57, Taylor County, with just 20 seconds left. Adair would get no closer though, as four Cardinal free throws closed the book on this one.

Adair finished the night just 4-22 from long range, and Fudge said that played a big role in the loss.

"We like to shoot open threes and with their size we expected to shoot outside some," Fudge said. "We actually had more success inside though."

Matt Fudge led the way for Adair with 20, nearly matching Goodin's 21 for the night, but Chance Melton was the only other Indian to reach double figures, with 13 points. Ty Bennett poured in nine off the bench, Shelley added eight, and Hixson four. Hutchison and Jacob Pooler rounded out the scoring for the Tribe with three and one, respectively.

weighted balls, Cape's fastball, which had topped out around 90 mph during his senior season, was registering 94 mph off the mound. His performance gained the attentionof both his players and assistant coaches, who urged him to continue pursuing baseball.

"They said, 'What are you doing here? You need to go play!'" he laughed. "Then one of my assistants mentioned me to a scout at a coaching convention. I don't think he thought anything about it at the time."

"Even my parents thought I was kidding when I first told them," he continued. "I had to send them my test papers to prove I threw that hard."

Cape then received a tryout with the Texas Rangers organization, and despite throwing well, was told he would not be offered a contract.

"The scout told me it was simply a numbers thing. They had cut 12 guys the day before I worked out for them, so there was just no room," he said.

One week later, Cape was on a plane to Arizona for an invite-only tryout. Cape was the only attendee that had not played minor league or independent baseball. That didn't matter when he stepped to the mound.

"I threw really well," he said. "I felt great, and struck out the first four guys that came up, then broke the bat of the fifth guy."

Cape, who as a junior in high school was a five-foot-seven junk ball thrower whose fastball topped out at 77, now stands six-foot-three and registered 93 and 94 mph on the radar consistently in front of a professional scout.

"It was surreal," he began. "I walked off the field and felt better than I ever have in my life. There was a guy there with an independent team that offered me a contract on the spot, but I didn't sign anything that day. I wanted to see how this played out."

It played out just as dramatically as the rest of Cape's journey had. The Diamondbacks called Cape on Monday night to tell him that they too had too many arms on the roster and could not offer him a spot.

"I thought, 'Oh, okay. I'll go play independent ball and see where it goes from there,'" Cape explained. "Then I get a call this morning telling me they may have had an injury, and if that guy can't play, I'm on their short list of players to call."

Two hours later, Cape's phone rang again. It was the Diamondbacks, and they wanted him to report to Spring Training.

"I can't tell you what that felt like," he laughed. "That's the dream. That's been the dream since we were five and playing Little League."

Even with the overwhelming joy, Cape realizes that this is just the start of a new dream: making the Major Leagues.

"You just have to get in and you've got a shot," he said of his chances. "If you have eyes on you, and you throw well at every level, they'll give you a chance and you can make it. That's what I'm going to try to do."

football, although for much different reasons. The BCS title game was held on a Monday night, and that trend will likely continue under the new playoff format. College football is nearly exclusively a Saturday sport, yet they move their biggest bowl game (and games) of the year away from it and place them on a weeknight.

While the reason for this is likely the television viewership, and the game in no way compares to the cultural magnitude of the Super Bowl, the point remains that a game can be moved from the day that is considered traditional to benefit the game and fans.

I'm not necessarily arguing for the Super Bowl to be moved to a Saturday. In fact, I'm not sure how I feel about the issue. I'm inclined to believe it would be better on a Saturday for the reasons listed above, and I think that after a few years of making the move, the traditional feel of a Sunday game would fade. Besides, the NFL already plays on Thursday and Monday nights, so that stronghold of Sunday for professional football is lessening by the year as it is.

With the massive financial and competitive success of the game, it's unlikely that the NFL would ever make such a move—they simply don't need to from a business standpoint. However, that doesn't mean that we, as fans, can't discuss the possibility of the move and how we would feel about it.

So let me know what you think. Should the Super Bowl stay on Sunday? Would it be more fun and more convenient to have it on a Saturday night? Chime in either via email: blakespires@adairprogress.com or on twitter @AdairProgress.

to a 16-3 lead early in the contest. The Indians would regain their composure, however, mounting a 22-5 run over the course of the remainder of the first and much of the second quarter to take a 25-21 lead. The Cardinals finished the half strong, ending the Adair run with a five-point spurt of their own, and took a 26-25 lead into the locker room.

In the third, Adair was able to slip past the opposition, outscoring Nelson County 13-10 in the quarter to take a 38-36 lead into the final frame.

With just minutes to go in the fourth and the Indians hanging on to a 45-41 lead, Nelson County again rattled off a quick five points to take a one-point lead with just 30 seconds remaining.

Undaunted, Indian senior point guard Matt Fudge splashed home a pull-up jumper from just inside the three point arc with 17 seconds to go, putting Adair back on top by a point. The Cardinal attempt at recapturing the lead found rim, and freshman forward Chance Melton pulled in the rebound. Melton held on to the ball to accept the coming foul, then coolly drained two free throws, notching points 14 and 15 to secure the win, 49-46.

"Sometimes winning a close game is better than blowing a team out," Coach Fudge said. "We had to make some big plays down the stretch."

Melton's 15 led Adair on the night, while seniors Ty Bennett and Matt Fudge had 13 and 10, respectively. Fellow senior Marshall Shelley pitched in five points in the tough road win, and both Zach Hutchison and Jacob Pooler added three points each.
